Welcome to the 24th Herefordshire Art Week

A celebration of local creativity with 400 participating artists in 134 venues across Herefordshire and its borders.

Visit their working studios, explore pop-up shows in unique venues, and discover beautifully curated galleries. Chat, browse, buy, or commission direct.

Follow the h.Art trail with fine art and beautiful functional craft. Explore just for the joy of it, but remember, the best treasures aren't found in a factory. They are painted and crafted right here. Choose local artistry over mass production and take home something unique to be loved forever.

See page 38 for workshops, talks and demonstrations. Be inspired, get creative, have a go!

We'd love you to hold onto your guide, as you can use it as an artist directory to get back in touch or commission something special. www.h-art.org.uk is live all year and features all the participating artists. Those exhibiting at h.Art Christmas events are announced in early November.

Every year we award bursaries to new artists making an impact with their work. This year's Emerging Artist Bursary Winners are Aoife Higgins and Guy Herbert. Read more about their work on page 36.

Locations of all h.Art venues are on the fold-out map attached to the back. City and town maps start on page 47.

A vibrant, painterly illustration of a landscape. In the foreground, there are green fields and a small body of water. In the middle ground, a rainbow arches over a valley. In the background, there are blue mountains. Two large, dark birds are flying in the sky, one on the left and one on the right. The overall style is artistic and colorful.

A close-up photograph of a pair of earrings. Each earring consists of a small pearl at the top, connected by a thin wire to a large, dark, teardrop-shaped pendant. The pendants have a metallic, possibly oxidized silver or dark gold, finish with some lighter, reflective areas. The earrings are resting on a light-colored, textured fabric surface.

Sarah & Shelly are hugely influenced by their love of the natural world and being outside. The influence nature has on them comes across strongly in their chosen mediums.

In the studio will be oil paintings by Richard Gilbert and Andy Johnson, together with indoor sculpture by Lynne Littler and Frances Warren. Richard will be showing a group of recent small paintings featuring historic buildings in landscapes from across the British Isles. Andy will show mainly Herefordshire landscapes as well as illustrations in gouache based on medieval marginalia for an edition of The Romance of Fulk Fitz Waryn (of which copies will be available).

In the wood and orchard will be a Contemporary Sculpture Trail featuring works by Daren Greenhow, Gabriel Parfitt, Frances Warren and Lynne Littler. Daren usually works, in a very individual style, in stainless steel and often includes bicycle parts. Gabriel explores space and form by fabricating ferrous steel and found metal, his work often influenced by the human figure and creatures found locally. Frances works with wood, stone and glass and enjoys the challenge of working with recycled materials. Lynne usually works with copper and stainless steel wire and creates pieces that evoke a feeling of movement.

Frances Warren and the Llangarron Stone carvers will be running stone carving 'Have a Go' demos on Wednesday 9th - booking advisable via email.

Refreshments available all week.

For those with mobility issues, there is a step into the studio, and the ground for the sculpture trail will be tussocky and rough in places.

h.Art[®]

herefordshire art week

h.Art offers up to two bursaries to emerging professional artists, supporting those who have chosen to live and work in Herefordshire and its neighbouring borders. As artists often spend long hours working in solitude, opportunities to engage directly with the public are invaluable. Feedback from visitors helps shape their creative practice while also supporting the development and sustainability of their businesses.

AIOFE HIGGINS h.Art Emerging Artist Bursary Winner

Aoife completed an MA in Book Arts at Camberwell College of the Arts, London, graduating in 2020. Her interest in bookbinding began earlier, while studying zoology and searching for the perfect notebook.

She creates one-off artist's books and boxes, editions of artist's books, and two-dimensional works on paper using a wide range of techniques. Employing traditional methods to decorate papers, she incorporates these into collages, rebindings, and handmade notebooks. Her practice explores the subconscious, drawing on science, folklore, and the esoteric to convey a sense of wonder at the natural world.

"I like to walk in the woods and the hills where I photograph moss and other small things to make prints from or paint later".

Venue 23 Visit Aoife in her home studio in Ludlow, you can book a bookbinding or paper decoration workshop direct.

GUY HERBERT h.Art Emerging Artist Bursary Winner

Yosegi Pendant

A 2023 graduate of Hereford College of Arts with a BA (Hons) in Contemporary Design Crafts, Guy divides his time between his family's rare-breed conservation farm near Bromyard and his own creative practice. In both, he is committed to preserving tradition—whether safeguarding heritage livestock or refining a different kind of craft. His work is strongly influenced by Kumiko, the intricate art of 17th-century Japanese carpentry.

"I became aware of the craft during my degree and since graduating I have spent the last two years learning and refining the processes

I needed. I enjoy the methodical and meditative processes of Kumiko, slowly building up a pattern and adding detail and nuance to the design over time. Wood is my material of choice, and Kumiko uses it with minimal waste whilst emphasising the natural strengths and the beauty of the wood grain"

Venue 25 Guy's work is shown at the St Michaels Church collective, Tenbury Wells.

AND FINALLY... a note from us

As the new director of h.Art, I feel incredibly lucky. Spending my days immersed in beautiful art and craftwork is hardly a hardship, although my wish list is now completely out of control!

Thankfully, I have my predecessor, Mel Potter, as inspiration. Since her h.Art start in 2002 as Hereford Council's Principal Arts Officer, and later continuing it independently when arts funding ended, Mel has championed Herefordshire and Borders art and craft for 24 years.

Her beautiful cottage is a wonderful reflection of that passion. Collected over many Herefordshire Art Weeks, alongside gifts from friends and family, it is filled with vibrant artworks and handcrafted treasures: from hand-thrown cups and screen-printed cushions to artisan garden fencing and her eclectic jewellery. Admiring a basketry swallow on her wall, I discovered Mel had made it herself at an artist-led workshop, one of many she has attended over the years. Clearly, I have an excellent role model to follow.

Mel's ethos is simple: buy local, buy handmade. Beautiful, well-made objects for your home, yourself, or loved ones carry stories, care, and craftsmanship that last a lifetime.

That spirit will guide h.Art into its 25th anniversary year in 2027 and beyond. We may love the many creative programmes on television these days, but we should never forget to support the real creativity on our own doorstep.

Thank you, Mel, for your contribution to Herefordshire Art, for "Following your h.Art" over the last quarter century and inspiring us all.
